Township Assessor Lawson Urges Residents to Review their Tax Bills Due to Possible Miscalculation

Township of Schaumburg Assessor John R. Lawson is urging all Township residents the importance of reviewing their second installment property tax bills. The Cook County Assessor's Office has informed all townships of a small number of miscalculations on the property bills like in Wheeling Township.

"It's important that our residents to review closely their property bills recently sent out by the Treasurer's Office," says Township of Schaumburg Assessor, John R. Lawson. "My staff is ready to lend any assistance to residents who believe that their bill was not computed well. They can issue a certificate of error and get an adjusted property bill for the resident."

Additionally, Assessor Lawson is recommending all seniors to make sure their senior exemptions are in place and to carefully check their bills; especially those who pay the bills through escrow with their mortgage as mortgage companies simply pay the bill.

The second installment of Cook County tax bills is due Aug. 1.
